

Rate Economy “Excellent” or “Good”.

Lack of access to training programs that give workers the skills they need to fill in demand jobs.

Increasing investments in skills and technical training is extremely or very important for the economy.

Increase government funding for skills training.

Make federal financial aid available to anyone seeking skills training, not just those seeking college degrees.

Provide access to digital skills training for workers throughout their careers so they can adapt to new technologies at work.

Increase funding for support services to help people finish skills training programs, such as for career counseling, childcare and transportation assistance.

Create closer partnerships between training providers and businesses to train people for the jobs that businesses need to fill.

Ensure people have access to data that tells them which training programs and credentials will help them reach their employment goals.

